TEXT

Advert wording must be specified; brochures and tear sheets are not acceptable as copy. Text may be edited to fit the available space. The position of any editorial agreed for inclusion in Country Images is decided by the editor and will not necessarily be on the same page as your advert.

IMAGES

Digital images are welcome in EPS, TIFF or JPEG format but must have at least 300 pixel-per-inch (PPI) resolution at print size.

JPEGs should be at low compression (high file size).

Images meant for display on computer screens are normally at 72PPI and therefore will print at only about a quarter of their original size. Images (including logos) copied from Web pages are not normally of sufficient size or image quality for print use.

Photos are acceptable for scanning provided they are good quality (these will be returned on request).

FONTS

Any special typefaces required for your ad must be supplied, either embedded in a made-up PDF file, outlined in an EPS or included as Macintosh font files/suitcases. To be usable, PostScript type 1 fonts require both the screen font suitcase and the corresponding PostScript font file(s). We reserve the right to approximate unavailable fonts at our discretion.

We will, of course, do our best to work with our customers to ensure that your adverts are of the best quality and have the best impact on your clients. If you have any problems providing copy to the above specification please do not hesitate to contact us and we will do our best to find alternative ways of creating your desired advert.
